RAMPART CAMPAIGN – THE LANTERN ROAD, PART ONE

1. LANTERNS OVER THE MISTFALL MARCHES

Author: Template Author

Source: Scenario Creator example

For nine generations the Lantern Keepers have tended the beacons of the Mistfall Marches. Tonight the fog rolls in from the fens, the lamps gutter one by one, and something with far too many eyes is walking the old road. The last Keeper's order was simple: "Keep the flame – whatever comes." Light the Beacon, or the Marches go dark for good.

HEROES PLACEMENT

Place your Main Hero on the Starting Tile with the Rampart border. In a 2-player game the second Hero starts on the Starting Tile with the Castle border.

The AI Hero starts on the printed Far Tile, on the Field with the Necropolis Cube.

ADDITIONAL RULES

The fog is a living thing. While it lasts, no Hero can see farther than one Field.

- Heroes standing next to a lit Lantern ignore this rule.

ENEMY SPAWNING AND MOVEMENT

Enemy armies come out of the fog on the Fog Fields at the edge of the map, one army per spawn.

- The army is made of 2 and 1 Necropolis Units, placed on the Fog Field nearest to the AI Hero.
- At the end of each Round, every enemy army moves up to 2 Fields toward the nearest Hero. An army that reaches a Hero starts a battle.

1-PLAYER SCENARIO

TWO HEROES, ONE ROAD

THE STORY

The Keepers never asked for thanks, only for oil and a little quiet. When the Valley Council cut their pay of 3 🪙 a season, they kept the lamps lit anyway.

Then the fog came. It did not roll like weather; it walked. By the third night the farms along the Lantern Road were silent, and by the fifth the first beacon went dark. The Keeper at Greywatch sent one last rider south with a single message: the Beacon on Mistfall Hill must burn, and only a Hero of the Marches can reach it.

You are that Hero. Behind you the road is already vanishing. Ahead, the old lamps are waiting for a hand steady enough to relight them.
